OUR HARTO AND SOUL

A few close friends just wanted to say thanks ...

Australia's champion of journalism John Hartigan is leaving News Limited today after a stellar 41-year career. His rise from copy boy to editor to chairman and CEO is the stuff of legend and he will be sadly missed.

Dear John, News Limited has been as part of my family for about 57 years, which is a big claim but it's the truth ... as a 15 year old copy boy on the Adelaide News my father went to the races every Saturday for a couple of years with young Rupert Murdoch, (he was about 23) the new owner of News Ltd. My dad watched and participated as a reporter as Mr Murdoch took on the South Australian establishment with this tiny little evening newspaper over the imprisonment of an aboriginal, Rupert Maxwell Stuart for allegedly killing a young white girl. The newspapers bravery, led by Murdoch, set the pace for a publisher who became, amazingly, the greatest ever Australian businessman on the international scene. Hi John, Thanks for your fantastic leadership over the years, it was great to see someone of your calibre and dedication as our CEO. You represented, internally and externally all of News and us in an exemplary manner. We were proud to have you there. Wishing you and your family all as one of the world's most believable publications. That's the front window for News in Australia but we all know, especially here just how deep your reach has been into the little publications. This has been one of your great talents ... to understand the entire News Ltd organisation right down to us The Sunshine Coast. Getting back to the family - Dad says well done. Uncle Julian Swinstead, former boss of Super League for News and CEO of 100 News suburbs across the country and so does my other uncle Gene who also ran all the suburbs for a while plus Hong Kong's South China Morning Post. That leaves little to say how grateful, how impressed and how lucky we have been to see so much of News Ltd's Australian champion so often here on the Sunshine Coast. Amy Swinstead Doberer Advertising Quest

 The halcyon days of the Daily Sun were the most fun I have ever had professionally and everyone I meet from those days agrees. I dips me lid to you, Harto, for checking out in your own time at the top of your game. Col said many years ago that there were no marks on you. He should have added that you would not die with your boots on. May your adventure continue at the pace you choose. All the very best, Sean Hogben News Central News Queensland

 John, thank you for your solid support of Australian journalism and its workforce. You have been unique in your position. Best felt I had joined the right company. I've always believed that quality journalism is the backbone of a healthy democracy and those are the values that you stand for. You have been an inspirational leader and I will be sad to see you leave us. Best of luck with the next chapter in your life. Thank you Harto. Cheers, Dan Demaria Marketing Advertiser NewsMedia Hi John, Just wanted to wish you and your family all very best for the years ahead. Good Health and Happiness. I feel as though now I am the last man standing to come out of the Sam Lanyon, Vince Griffiths era at the old Fairfax Building on Broadway back in the heady days of the late sixties and early seventies. You ventured into journalism, I went the other way into advertising. How the newspaper industry has changed since those days, not sure for the better, but hey some would say we are dinosaurs. Best wishes, Michael Clay Advertising Design Cumberland Newspapers

 John, Congrats on an amazing career. Thanks for staying a journo all the way through it. And thanks for all your encouragement/advice/occasional uppercut over the years. Good luck for what lies ahead. There's always a cold beer here in WA. Cheers, SAM WEIR EDITORIAL THE SUNDAY TIMES
 Way to go Harto ... seen it through from dial-up phones that were only used to make phone calls, filing on the two-way, cameras with film, shiny suits, hot lead and vertical (to horizontal) positioning at the back bar of the Evil - to VDT allowances, wysiwyg, digital full-page page setting, blokes in jeans who aren't subs and struggle to tell you what they actually do, bluetooth that has nothing to do with chewing the sh*t out of your pen, "going forwards (instead of forwards, backwards and sideways in the Star on a Friday night) and the "vertical positioning" of our brands. I have a feeling this business is a lot like the mafia - once you're in, you're stuffed and can't really leave ... and journo might look like they've changed, but if they have, it's illusory. Let's hope that no matter the medium, or how many changes we see, what we do never changes and that people recognise how important it is to them and that it's worth paying for. I'm glad I've worked for a fair-dinkum newspaper man who's loved this business from start to finish. Stan Denham News Central Nationwide News
